CITY EXPERT CITES LA CROSSE ASSETS

Pointers Given on where La Crosse Is Failing in Matter of Industrial Growth

PUBLIC SPIRIT ESSENTIAL

Rest will Come Easy if the Citizens Determine to Take Advantage of Opportunities

George Blackstone Irving, municipal expert, told an audience which nearly filled the La Crosse theater last night, of the mistakes which have been made in La Crosse to hamper its industrial growth, cited the city's assets and liabilities, and pointed out a large field of opportunity for labor in promoting a greater La Crosse.

His address was filled with wisdom and comparisons with other towns which through push and unity are working to the advantage of their industrial life.

The speaker was introduced by Attorney A. H. Schubert, who paid tribute to the orchestras, the theater management, the newspapers, and the telephone girls of the Independent company, who had contributed their service gratis toward the undertaking.

Great Cities' Domination.

Mr. Irving first called attention to the domination of the great cities and predicted that by 1940 there will be twenty millions of people more in the cities than in all of the rest of the country. He showed that this is a wrong condition, that laborers in the larger cities do not own their own homes and that the men salaried from $5,000 to $15,000 have to wait for their pay checks to keep up expenses.

A Chicago merchant told the speaker that only ten per cent of the working people owned their own homes, and that these were owned only in name. He said they were better credit than the man making $5,000 per year, because the latter was trying to live the life of the man making ten times as much.

Legislation and Transportation.

Two of the influences which he declared are working against the small town are legislation and quick transportation. The zone of business has been doubled by quick transportation.

He urged the business men to take up the cause of the La Crosse Water Power company in bringing an interurban into La Crosse, calling it one of the greatest assets a city can have. He cited an instance in Bloomington, Ill., where the business men had organized and banded together to build an interurban. "Build your trolleys," he said. A Kansas town has 300 automobiles. Farmers of the vicinity have machines and come three times as far as before, through smaller towns where they traded before, to the larger cities, thus demonstrating the widening of the zone of the cities by quick transportation. He urged good roads and an auto factory to put machines in the farmers' hands. Industries easily double the population and industrial centers, he said, are now the small cities of the middle west and not in New England, as in the past. Phones were also credited as a great help, and LaCross has great telephone service compared to some cities similarly situated. Better newspapers mean a better city, said the speaker. He urged business men to build up the newspapers, to spend two per cent of their total sales in advertising in local papers and declared it one of the greatest factors in building up a town.

Conventions Profitable.

The Chicago Association of Commerce, which has some of the best brains in Chicago laboring insistently for its success, devotes a great deal of time to bringing conventions to that city, because conventions dump hundreds of people onto State street and into the great stores, whose heads are engaged in promoting the convention idea for this purpose.

He took up the question of surplus capital and urged citizens not to let other cities come here and get surplus capital from La Crosse to build up other cities. A million has gone out of here in five years, he said, in plantation and fake mining schemes, one-tenth of which invested in twelve small factories five years ago would have brought twelve thriving industries to the city today. If La Crosse doesn't conserve surplus capital others will come in and get it, but La Crosse can go to the smaller towns, he said, and utilize their capital in La Crosse. He cited many instances to prove it. Business men of La

WALTER HOUSER SAYS TOM WILL BE NEXT GOVERNOR

Walter Houser, former secretary of state and known as a strong leader among progressive republicans, today told The Tribune that he is for Senator Thomas Morris for governor.

Mr. Houser is here as foreman of the federal grand jury. He is publisher of the Mondovi Herald, and his political expressions are read with interest throughout the state because he usually voices the sentiment of the majority of his faction. Mr. Houser said:

"That Senator La Follette will, and ought to be re-elected, there is no question in my mind. His record in the senate is so thoroughly approved by the people that his political fortunes are in no danger in their hands. The people know who are their real representatives. They will take care of them. I am not unmindful of the fierce opposition of big business—the system—to Mr. La Follette, and that every extreme will be followed to defeat him. I have no doubt. But only by treachery can it be accomplished. His friends will see to it that this is not done.

"As to the governorship, the people in this section of the state are a unit for Senator Tom Morris, and this is natural and right. Senator Morris is one of the true men of the state. And he knows—he knows where lies the cause for the ills of our government. He is not afraid of anything except to do wrong. He will make one of our state's great governors. Few men are more unselfishly devoted to the public interest. His official acts are absolutely devoid of everything except the one motive—that of serving the great majority rather than the privileged few. He would do nothing to privilege the few at the expense of the many. His candidacy will make progress from now until primary election day, when, in my judgment, he will be nominated, and later elected."

MURDER VICTIM A BRIDE OF GERMANY

Young Woman Found Dead on Long Island Probably was Anna Mueller, a Banker's Domestic

ISLIP, L. I., Oct. 22.—Satisfied that the victim of the murder mystery which has puzzled them since the skeleton of a woman was found in the woods near here early this week, is Anna Latter Mueller, a bride of but a few months, and prior to her marriage a maid in the home of Isaac Seligman, the New York banker, the Suffolk county authorities are convinced today that they will soon locate the murderers.

As expected the identification came from Germany. The German consul advices were that the victim was Frau Mueller, who formerly lived at Welda, in Saxe-Weimar, in central Germany. In February, 1908, she and her husband, Otto Mueller, sailed for America. Both are said to have been missing for some time.

The initials on the watch, "A. L.," strengthen the supposition of the police.

Her American History

The girl came to America for the first time in 1896 as a maid in a family named Sanders. She worked for them until they returned to Germany and then obtained employment with the wife of a mining man in Denver. Later she lived in Chicago and in 1902 came to New York and was engaged as a maid by Mrs. Seligman. She worked for her two years and in 1904 began caring for an invalid in Great Barrington, Mass.

Here she met Otto Mueller, who lived at Far Rockaway at that time but whose home was in Newark, N. J. Mueller and Anna Latter were married in Newark on Feb. 6, 1908, by Rev. Max Hirsch, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical church. Three days later they sailed for Hamburg to spend their honeymoon in Germany, where they visited the bride's relatives and returned to the United States two months later. Mrs. Mueller visited friends in Newark on April 5, 1908, and friends of hers in the New Jersey city declare that she and her husband left for New York that night and have not since been heard from.

Had Wealth About Her

Mrs. Mueller had much valuable jewelry which she had received as presents from various employers and was also understood by her friends to have considerable money which she had saved. One of her brothers is said to be an officer in the German navy.

The police are trying today to find out what became of Mueller. They point out that both he and his bride may have been murdered and their bodies disposed of or that he may be able to clear up the mystery surrounding his wife's death. With this in mind, a general alarm has been sent out and the police everywhere have been asked to try and locate either Mueller or his friends.

Another Mystery

There is a possibility that Mrs. Mueller may have been known as Mrs. Mary Reichoid. That is the name of a woman owner of the land where the body was found and it developed today that no trace of her has been found since she purchased the plot. Installments due on the property and taxes have remained unpaid for a year while all effort to locate the owner have failed.

THUGS WANTED TO HANG GOV. DENEEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A demonstration by the 1,000 prisoners in the county jail against Gov. Charles S. Deneen immediately following first hanging in Cook county in two years when Andrew Williams, colored paid the penalty for the murder of his wife on March 11,1908.

The trap on which Williams stood fell at 11:05 a. m.

For years it has been the custom of prisoners in the Cook county jail to give the "death wail" whenever a prisoner is hanged. This is a long drawn out, sobbing cry which the prisoners give in unison. In the past it has started the instant the trap fell.

Today, however, guards were stationed in the corridors of the jail to prevent this cry and Williams was hanged in dead silence.

The instant the guards were withdrawn however, the prisoners set up the wail in unison and then suddenly began to cry: "Up with Deneen, hang him! Hang him! Up with Leneen, Hang him! Hang him!

JURY DISMISSED UNTIL TOMORROW

Cases Against Indians Up and Some are Forced to Forfeit the Bail Bond

The wheels of justice turned swiftly in United States court yesterday afternoon, and this morning, and a great many cases were disposed of. At the conclusion of this morning's session Judge Sanborn announced that the jury was dismissed until tomorrow morning, when there is one more case to be tried, after which the jurors will be dismissed for the term.

Ella King, charged with preventing by force the erection of a United States mail box in the road way abutting her property, was discharged, and the case against her dismissed by the court this morning.

John Doherty, an Indian charged with a technical violation of the Indian regulations, was dismissed yesterday afternoon. George Morrison was found guilty of selling liquor to Indians, but sentence was not pronounced. The second case against Morrison is in the hands of the jury.

George Stone, an Indian, entered a plea of guilty last night and sentence was suspended during good behavior.

When the cases against Frank Souler, Robert Buffalo and John Gurno were called yesterday afternoon, none of the defendants appeared. Their bail was declared forfeited by the court.

WILL LOOK INTO 50-YEAR FRANCHISE

That no organization in Winona should stand in the way of so large and extensive a project as the interurban railway which the La Crosse Water Power company, of which W. J. Ferris of this city is the president, but that the granting of a fifty-year franchise is of such magnitude that the matter should be discussed from all sides and given very serious thought before any action is taken in regard to the matter, are the conclusions that the Winona board of trade reached last evening after discussing the matter from all sides. The board feels that they should not stand in the way of so large a project and one which would make their city an important terminal on this electric railway.

The concensus of opinion was that in such a weighty matter the voters of the city should be given a voice. This may delay the granting of the franchise.

A committee of three was appointed to investigate the conditions of the franchise and to report at the next meeting before the body would recommend that it should be granted.

FEAR ANOTHER BIG QUAKE DISASTER IN ITALY TODAY

Etna and Vesuvius Belching Lava and Explosions Since Shock Yesterday Wrecked Cities

BALUCHISTAN HORROR SCENE

No News Comes From Large Area and Repetition of Messina Holocaust Is Greatly Feared

ROME, Oct. 22.—Fear that another Messina disaster is awaiting the world at the other end of the wrecked Sicilian Islands is hourly growing and the government is taking extensive relief measure, preparing to forward supplies and help Catania if a disaster has taken place.

Earth shocks of long duration continue in the neighborhood of Mount Etna today but no definite information regarding the extent of the quake nor the damage done can be obtained, as every line of communication with the district was wrecked. A long death roll is feared.

So far only one village has been heard from. That is Acibeale on the slopes of Mount Etna, which was wrecked by yesterday's shock. Practically every house in the town was razed and one man was killed.

The government is making every effort to get definite information from the stricken territory.

Vesuvius Roars Loudly

NAPLES, Oct. 22.—The increased violence of the eruption of Mount Vesuvius today in connection with the reports of continued earth shocks in Sicily and southern Italy have caused considerable alarm. The peasants, always superstitious and fearful of another Messina disaster are avoiding the towns and are rushing to the open. Vesuvius is throwink up great qquantities of stone, all of which, however, falls within the crater. Loud explosions accompany the eruptions.

Terrible Tale Told

QUETTA, Northern India, Oct. 22.—Terrified tribesmen struggling exhausted into Quetta today report the whole destruction of villages through out northeastern Baluchistan and western Punjab by earthquake. Hundreds are dead in the villages of Miti, Mankanbela, Tanio, Kanda and Kurani Hundreds of small villages throughout the stricken country are scattered about in the almost inaccessible mountains. The full death roll will never be known.

According to the refugees arriving here the entire face of the countryside between here and Khelat, the capital of Baluchistan, has been altered. The quake tossed up huge lines of low hills, throwing whole villages into ruins. Fugitives from Kurani say that a huge crevasse opened up in the earth with terrible rumblings and entirely swallowed the center of the village.

No news can be secured from Khelet or from Bagat, another Soluchistan city of 10,000. Rumors among the Nomad tribesmen are that both of those cities were wiped out by the quake.

President of River Falls Normal Makes Fiery Plea for Better Government

RISE IN MIGHT TO CONTROL

Advice of Speaker Before 400 Teachers at West Wisconsin Convention Today

By far the most important thing to impress upon the minds of young Americans of today is the necessity of wresting from private interests the control of this great country, declared President H. L. Wilson of the Black River Falls normal school in his address before the opening session of the sixth annual meeting of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association at the La Crosse normal school this morning.

Accumulation of great wealth by individuals was denounced by President Wilson and the work of the predatory corporations flayed. Equal distribution of the country's wonderful assets was argued for by the speaker with enthusiasm.

"I understand," he said, "that twenty-sixx men control and fairly own the industrial and the governmental affairs of this great country and that an inner circle of six men dictate to the 80,000,000 inhabitants what they shall pay for the necessities of life.

"This is an abominable condition and it is high time that we rise in might and assert our power to control affairs."

The address of President Wilson created no little stir among the four hundred teachers assembled and at the close of his address which was a great appeal for better educational systems, better citizens and better government with a more equal chance for the wage earner met with the hearty applause of the delegates.

Carey Absent

State Superintendent of Schools C. P. Cary Madison, was unable to be present to deliver his address, "Thoroughness in Education," owing to the visit of a party of state superintendents to Wisconsin. They are in the eastern part of the state today inspecting various institutions.

He found an able substitute, however, in Mr. A. J. Winnie, state inspector of schools for the deaf and the latter read the paper which had been prepared by Mr. Carey.

"The Teacher's Development of Personality," an address by President John F. Simms of the Stevens Point normal was an urgent appeal to Wisconsin educators to make their work a part of themselves and to study to develop a personality, the the influence of which could be immediately felt by the pupil when pupil and teacher came in contact.

Four hundred delegates from various points in western Wisconsin had registered at the normal school by 9:30 o'clock this morning but many more arrived on later trains. The

INDIANA HOPES TO DEFEAT WISCONSIN

Team in Excellent Shape, Beating the Scrubs 26 to 10 in an Hour's Hard Workout

MOLL IN THE GAME AGAIN

Puts New Life in the Team, which Plays Faster Ball; Osthoff Ill with Ptomaine Poisoning

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 22.—Yesterday's workout was the last hard practice for the Indiana university football eleven before the Wisconsin game, to be played on Saturday at Madison. The team left Bloomington this morning at 12:27. It has not yet been decided whether today will be spent in Chicago or in Madison. The men may be kept in Chicago for a workout on Marshall field this afternoon, or they may go on to Madison and practice signals there. Coach Sheldon has made arrangements for a special car in which to take the squad. Nothing will be left undone to keep the players in the best physical condition.

Interest in the game is running at a high pitch, the entire student body watching the career of the crimson eleven. The Boosters' club has made arrangements for a special leased wire from the field at Madison to the auditorium of the student building and will have a detailed account of the game read. The Daily Student will issue an extra on the contest, having a representative on the side lines. A large crowd of students watched open practice on Jordon field Wednesday afternoon.

In an hour's scrimmage the varsity defeated the freshmen 26 to 10. The freshmen played an old fashioned, line plunging game, while the varsity played new football. Gill and Capt. Cunningham took turns running the team from quarter. Lewis, Lavis and Sholty scored touchdowns for the varsity and Lewis and Gill marked up three points each with a place and drop kick, respectively.

Moll at Quarterback

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 22.—The much-talked-about return of "Keckie" Moll to the ranks of the varsity football squad yesterday afternoon was the signal for the shifting of Fucik to his old position at rigth halfback. Sid Anderson who has been playing in Fucik's place was on the second team in the signal practice.

The team showed more snap and played faster ball yesterday than it has in the past ten days, all plays being run through with accuracy.

There is considerable confidence among the students that the team will have no serious trouble defeating Indiana next Saturday. Secret signal practice has been given the men for several days, the first team being called together in the gymnasium or agricultural pavilion for several hours of practice at night.

This means that Barry is drilling the team on spectacular forward pass plays, such as those with which he surprised the rooters in the Chicago game last year.

The lineup for the game Saturday is still uncertain. Osthoff, the star right tackle, was on the side lines for the first time since taken ill with ptomaine poisoning, but he is still weak and it is certain that he will not get into the game.

Buser will probably play right tackle, but it is not known who will take Buser's place at guard. Sam Nefrud has been playing that position, but Iakisch, a crew man, took his place yesterday.

"BAT"-WOLGAST BOUT AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 22.—A battle for the world's lightweight championship has been arranged by Tom McCarey, manager of the Pacific Coast A. C., between Ad Wolgast and Battling Nelson. They will fight 45 rounds in this city Thanksgiving Day. The weight will be 133 pounds, ringside.

Nelson is now in Chicago as is also Tom Jones, manager for Wolgast. The two fighters will come west at once and upon their arrival will sign articles of agreement.

San Francisco has been dickering for the bout for the last few days and when McCarey heard of it he wired Nelson, reminding him of his promise to fight in Los Angeles should he ever enter the ring again with the Milwaukee lad. Nelson replied that the battle would go to Los Angeles.

COOK DEE-LIGHTED.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 22.—Tentative arrangements will be begun soon between Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the arctic explorer, and Prof. L. Dyche, of Kansas University, who through Chancellor Strong of that institution yesterday offered to scale Mount McKinley and recover Cook's records.

Cook lectured at Michigan University Wednesday and was informed of Prof. Dyche's offer. Cook had not received Chancellor Strong's telegram, but said:

"I shall accept without a moment's hesitation if the offer is made officially. I am delighted and certainly esteem this a high compliment from Chancellor Strong."

WOMAN THIEF GIVEN 30 DAYS

Celia Mroz, 19, was arrested by the police Wednesday and arraigned before Judge Brindley in county court yesterday on a charge of stealing a coat valued at ten dollars from the home of Mrs. Simonson. The coat was the property of Susie McKinney.

When brought into court yesterday Miss Mroz entered a plea of guilty to petty larceny as charged and was sentenced to a term of 30 days in the county jail.

The Rincon, which means "corner," is the ranch adjoining the great Taft outfit and, in order to show the president how they do things in Texas, steers are being roped and branded, bucking broncos are being caught and broken and the "chuck" wagon is furnishing the refreshments for the crowd.

The Best Food for Workers.

The best food for those who work with hand or brain is never high priced.

The best example of this is found in Quaker Oats. It stands at the top among foods that supply nourishment and vigor, without taxing the digestion, and yet it is the least expensive food one can eat.

This great food value and low cost make it an ideal food for families who want to get the greatest good from what they eat.

Laborers, factory or farm hands, fed plentifully on Quaker Oats will work better and with less fatigue than if fed on almost any other kind of food. All of these facts were proved and very interesting information about human foods were gathered by Professor Fisher of Yale University in 1908. In addition to the regular package Quaker Oats is packed in large sized family packages either with or without china dishes. 24

LA CROSSE

If anybody expected George Blackstone Irving to pull Greater La Crosse out of his sleeve and hand it to this public on a silver platter, they were sadly disappointed. If, on the contrary, citizens who attended the meeting went there to hear the truth about the shortcomings and the possibilities of this community, they were well repaid. Mr. Irving said little that has not been said before, but in a plain businesslike way he set forth unpleasant truths and offered a message of hope to which was attached the condition that work be done and money diverted from doubtful channels to the purpose of building up this city.

Those who listened, and because of their intelligence are chargeable with responsibility, cannot evade the confession that in organized effort and civic spirit we are woefully deficient as compared with the standards of really progressive cities, nor can they dodge the fact that each one of us has an individual responsibility in the matter. That individuals by concerning themselves have it in their power to aggregate an influence for betterment and promote a forward impulse that shall lead the way to expanding population and industry cannot be doubted. "God helps those who help themselves" and only those who do, and realization of our needs is of no importance unless accompanied with a determination to get together and make headway. We cannot afford to supinely await developments under conditions affording assurance that the drift of business is strongly against us. If we bury our talent in the ground it is sure to be taken from the unprofitable servant, while the city that is a profitable servant will find its talent doubled.

If The Tribune were to express one hope as more important than all others in connection with last night's mass meeting, it would be that Mr. Irving has deeply impressed the business men of La Crosse with the peril that menaces this city in case we do not enter into competition with other cities for industrial supremacy. Not a day but progressive communities are working with our industrials to entice them away, while we hardly show a courteous interest in their retention. The case of the Hackner factory, mentioned by the speaker, is in point, and the possibility of our losing the Kenyon company is another illustration of the necessity of activity on the part of our civic forces.

A plan for the capitalization of a civic organization to promote accretions to our industrial field will be shortly submitted, and it-is not stretching the truth to say that it deserves more serious attention than any public movement that has been started in this city in years. We cannot stand still. We must now decide whether to go backward or forward.

LOVE THAT IS LOVE

When Shakespeare wrote,
"Love is not love which altereth
When it alteration finds", neither John Ruskin nor J. W. Barrie had lived examples of loves unchanging and unselfish.

Barrie, the Scotch author of "The Little Minister" and many other stories of interest, has recently secured a divorce from his wife in an English court where divorces are not easily secured. Barrie named Gilbert Cannon, a playwright as correspondent.

Friends of the novelist now assert that he did not enter suit until Cannan had taken a solemn pledge to marry Mrs. Barrie after a decree had been obtained. And, as Cannan is not well off financially, Barrie made a handsome settlement on his wife before filing the petition, making her independent of Cannan's purse.

This act of Barrie's is a very close second to the magnanimous conduct of John Ruskin.

Five years after Ruskin married the beautiful Miss Gray, the celebrated artist, Millais, visited the Ruskin home to paint the young wife's portrait. The artist fell in love with Mrs. Ruskin and the conduct of the pair led to her going to her parents' home. Mrs. Ruskin then made on appeal in the Scotch courts for an annulment of the marriage in which her husband acquiesced.

He then accompanied his wife to church to celebrate her marriage with Millais, ending his own domestic life by yielding in this remarkable manner, because he held that it was better that the pair should live together happily than that they should be living in secret sin.

Such chivalry is rare indeed.

Almost every man who has followed river sports in La Crosse knows the accommodating ways and happy disposition of Jack Cowley. He has told us where the bass were working, has pointed out the promising bass holes, or mayhap has accompanied us to the haunts of the finny game, and no effort has been too arduous and no hour too early for him in his ministration to the lovers of the sports he himself delights in. It is to be hoped that there is some mistake about his unfortunate experience in relation to the whiskey quaffed by our thirsty red brethern, and that Jack is not going to become the goat in an unpleasant affair.

The crime of "blind piggers" at Aneta, N. D., in which an innocent boy was deliberately saturated with oil and burned to death because his father sought enforcement of the law, is the most dastardly in modern criminal annals. No punishment imaginable is adequate to the case.

Interference of the police in the business affairs of Mr. Hopkins suggests the recollection that there is other work more directly in the police line the successful consummation of which would seem to require all their time and enthusiasm. That our police chief felt moved to take the part of a stranger against a citizen, without even inquiring as to the latter's side of the story, raises a question of whether it really pays to pay taxes for the support of a police department in La Crosse.

Manager W. F. Goodrich, of the La Crosse Telephone company, again jumped into the limelight as a live one when he produced the "button" girls after all others had given up in despair. It was a splendid stunt, and smacks of a public spiritedness the like of which makes live cities.

PRESCRIPTION FOR KIDNEYS

Said to be the Best Ever Compounded for Kidney and Bladder Complaints

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on care of the kidneys and bladder. Weak or inactive kidneys lead to most serious and complicated consequences, such as chronic rheumatism, diabetes or Bright's disease. For this reason, such symptoms as pain in the back, rheumatic pains in the joints, frequent or highly colored urination, soreness in the groin or hip, dizziness, puffiness under the eyes, etc., should be attended to without delay. The following prescription is known to be highly endorsed by ounce Murax compound, one-half ounce Muraxx compound, one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, six ounces good pure gin." These ingredients can be bought separately and mixed at home or any good druggist can put them up. For the best results take in doses of one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day, after meals. Taken in time, this treatment is the best obtainable.

Forbes-Robertsen

LONDON, Eng.—Mr. Forbes Robertson stands out as a most unique figure on the stage today. Just as Sir Henry Irving stood supreme, so Mr. Forbes-Robertson is regarded by many as Irving's successor. In comparing the two there are many points of similarity. Temperament, ambition, intellectuality, individuality, and even, to some slight extent, personal appearance, mark these two remarkable actors as of the same school.

Forbes Robertson is now 56 years old, but he posses the temperament of youth, is active, vigorous and eager. He lacks Irving's supremely tragic sensibility of countenance, but he stands pre-eminent in England as a promoter of the advanced idea in drama of plays that are more than pictorial in their appeal of acting that is the art of realism.

Mr. Robertson has been on the stage for thirty-five years. He intended to be a painter, but on account of reverses in fortune, he was forced to engage in the theater, where his natural charm and resonant voice met with instant success.

By No Means Angelic

Eugene Walter, the playwright, at a dinner, was accused of pessimism.

"Well," said Walter, "I am not a pessimist, but I don't believe that human nature is by any means angelic. We are all much alike. The best we can do is to curb faults and favor our virtues."

"What faults should I curb?" a very pretty young lady asked.

"Well," said Mr. Walter, "I should think you'd have about the same faults to curb as a little girl I talked to yesterday. She's a charming little girl, and as we conversed alone in the drawing room while waiting for her father and mother to come down I said to her:

"'Have you got a sweetheart?'

"She smiled and wriggled. 'Yeth,' she said softly.

"'Well,' said I. 'I'll give you a quarter if you'll tell me who he is.'

"'Tommy,' she answered in a low voice, and I gave her the quarter.

"A few minutes afterward she said suddenly:

"'Now, if you'll give me another quarter I'll tell you who my other sweetheart is.'"—Rochester Herald.

Mr. Howard was a man of exceedingly few words. He positively disliked to talk, an an Indian dislikes to smile. One day he went into a music store to buy the music of an opera for his sister. The clerk came up, and to him Mr. Howard said in his quiet way:

"'Mikado' libretto,"

The salesman frowned.

"What's that ' he asked.

"Mikado' libretto," repeated the other.

"Me no speakee Italiano," said the clerk, shaking his head.—Washington Star.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

A Ballad of Matters Past

Where is the Persian maze?
And where the stringless bean?
And Bulwer Lytton's plays?
And Honolulu's queen?
And George's hatchet keen?
And eke the wealth of Nome?
An image dimly seen,
A picture drawn in foam.

Where are the crowning bays
That softened Hobson's mien?
And monorails, and rays
Of purest V serene?
And crop statistics lean?
Where are the geese of Rome?
All, all, from what I gain,
A picture drawn in foam.

Where are the Siren's lays?
And where's what might have been
And bowels used in the days
When 'twas a Bowling Green?
Free silver? Bombazine?
And Ben-Hur's hippodrome?
A thing of mist, I ween—
A picture drawn in foam.

ENVOY

Prince—upon the scene
The strutting figures roam.
They pass, and leave not e'en
A picture drawn in foam.

Miracle

Once, while Bishop Talbot, the giant "cowboy bishop," was attending a meeting of church dignitaries in St. Paul, a tramp accosted a group of churchmen on the hotel porch and asked for aid.

"No," one of them told him, "I'm afraid we can't help you. But you see that big man over there?" pointing to Bishop Talbot. "Well, he's the youngest bishop of us all, and he's a very generous man. You might try him."

The tramp approached Bishop Talbott confidently. The others watched with interest. They saw a look of surprise come over the tramp's face. The bishop was talking eagerly. The tramp looked troubled. And then, finally, they saw something pass from one hand to the other. The tramp tried to slink past the group without speaking, but one of them called to him:

"Well, did you get something from our brother?"

The tramp grinned sheepishly. "No," he admitted, "I gave him a dollar for his damned new cathedral at Laramie."—Everybody's Magazine.

The Exception

Their teacher had been telling the pupils of the Great Salt Lake in Utah, "the water of which," she explained, "is so extremely salty that no fish can live in it."

This statement proving too much for the credulity of Willie Parker, he rose with this question:

"Beg pardon, Miss Smith, but can't mackerel live in it?"—Harper's Weekly.

Good Place for Camels

Gov. Glasscock of West Virginia, while traveling through Arizona, noticed the dry, dusty appearance of the country.

"Doesn't it ever rain around here?" he asked one of the natives.

"Rain?" The native spat. "Rain? Why, say, pardner, there's bullfrogs in this yere town over five years old that ain't learned to swim yet."—Everybody's Magazine.

Why Some Stay at Home

The late P. F. Collier, the noted publisher and horseman, once discussed at a publishers' convention the odd case of Ambrose Bierce, who in England is regarded as an author of genius—whose "Chickamauga" is said to be the finest short story ever written in English—while here at home Mr. Bierce is not half so renowned as others.

Mr. Collier ended with an epigram at once true and sad.

"Mr. Bierce is fortunate, for it frequently happens," he said, "that the prophet who is without honor in his own country can't afford to go abroad."—Washington Star.

A FAT WOMAN HATES SOCIETY

Fat people have to get into clothes that are designed for people of normal physique. The men wear dress suits and look like comic pictures. The women wear low necked dresses to their evident humiliation. This is why it is often said that a fat women hates society. Fat is as much the mistake of poor health as anything else. The things that make fat should be making good blood, bone and nerves. The secret is that the digestive machinery is out of gear. The juices make fat in too large quantities. This fat impedes circulation, cramps the heart, suppresses the liver, crowds the lungs and interies with the stomach. Marmola Tablets are harmless. They are taken after each meal. They help digest that meal as nature intended it should be digested. They remove the fat already made at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces a day and they leave no flabby skin or wrinkles. They are sold wherever drugs are sold, or in the same category with harmful patent fat reducers. They contain Marmola, Cascara Aromatic and Peppermint water. If you do not care to call upon your druggist, send 75 cents to The Marmola company, Dept. 791, Detroit, Mich., and they will send you a large, full size case by return mail in plain package postage paid.

"And that commonwealth," said Griswold, wishing to prolong the respite from official cares, "that state known in law and history as North Carolina, I have heard called, by a delightful North Carolina lady I met once at Charlottesville, a valley of humility between two mountains of conceit. That seems to hit both of us!"

"That may have been what he said to you; but he has told me that the association of piracy and law was most unfortunate as it would suggest unpleasant comments to those who don't admire the legal profession."

"And you are one of those tidewater Griswolds, then, if you know the Randolph Wilsons. They are very strong for the tide-water families; to hear them talk you'd think the people back in the Virginia hills weren't really respectable."

"North Carolina isn't a state at all," Miss Osborne declared spitefully; "it's only a strip of land where uninteresting people live. And now, what do you say to this telegram?"

"Excellent. It's bound to irritate, and it leaves him in the dark as to our—I mean Governor Osborne's—intentions. And those intentions—"

During this by-play he had reached a decision as to what should be done, and he was prepared to answer when she asked, with an employment of the pronoun that pleasantly emphasized their relationship:

"What are our intentions?"

"We are going to catch Appleweight, that's the first thing—and until we get him we're going to keep our own counsel. Let me have a telegraph blank and I will try my hand at being governor." He sat down in the governor's chair, asked the name of the county seat of Mingo and wrote without erasure or hesitation this message:

"To the Sheriff of Mingo County,

"Turner Court House, S. C.:

"Make every possible effort to capture Appleweight and any of his gang who are abroad in your county. Swear in all the deputies you need, and if friendliness of citizens to outlaws makes this impossible, wire me immediately, and I will send militia. Any delay on your part will be visited with severest penalties. Answer immediately by telegraph.

"Charles Osborne,
"Governor of South Carolina."

"That's quite within the law," said Griswold, handing Barbara the message; "and we might as well put the thing through at a gallop. I'll get the telegraph company to hold open the line to Turner Court House until the sheriff answers."

As Barbara read the message he saw her pleasure in the quick compression of her lips, the glow in her cheeks, and then the bright glint of her bronze-brown eyes as she finished.

"That's exactly right. I didn't know just how to manage such a thing, but I see that that is the proper method."

"Yes; the sheriff must have his full opportunity to act."

"And what then, if the sheriff refuses to do anything?"

"Then—then" — and Griswold's jaw set firmly, and he straightened himself slightly before he added in a quiet tone—"then I'm going down there to take charge of the thing myself."

"Oh, that is too much! I didn't ask that; and I must refuse to let you take any such responsibility on yourself, to say nothing of the personal danger. I merely wanted your advice—as a lawyer, for the reason that I dared not risk father's name even among his best friends here. And your coming to the office this morning seemed so—so providential—"

He sought at once to minimize the value of his services, for he was not a man to place a woman under obligations, and, moreover, an opportunity like this, to uphold the dignity, and perhaps to exercise the power of a state, laid strong hold upon him. He knew little enough about the Appleweight case, but he felt from his slight knowledge that he was well within his rights in putting spurs to the sheriff of Mingo County. If the sheriff failed to respond in proper spirit and it became necessary to use the militia, he was conscious that serious complications might arise. He had not only a respect for law, but an ideal of civic courage and integrity, and the governor's inexplicable absence aroused his honest wrath. The idea that a mere girl should be forced to sustain the official honor and dignity of a cowardly father angered him. And then he looked into her eyes and saw how grave they were, and how earnest and with what courage she met the situation; and the charm of her slender figure, that glint of gold in her hair, her slim, supple hands folded on the table—these things wrought in him a happiness that he had never known before, so that he laughed as he took the telegram from her.

"There must be no mistake, no failure," she said quietly.

"We are not going to fail; we are going to carry this through! Within three days we'll have Appleweight in a North Carolina jail or a flying fugitive in Governor Dangerfield's territory. And now these telegrams must be sent. It might be better for you to go to the telegraph office with me. You must remember that I am a pilgrim and a stranger and they might question my filing official messages."

"That is perfectly true. I will go into town with you."

"And if theres an official coach that everybody knows as yours, it would allay suspicions to have it," and while he was still speaking she vanished to order the carriage.

In five minutes it was at the side door, and Griswold and Barbara, fortified by the presence of Phoebe, left the governor's study.

"If they don't know me, everybody in South Carolina knows Phoebe," said Barbara.

"A capital idea. I can see by her eye that she's built for conspiracy." Griswold's horse was to be returned to town by a boy; and when this had been arranged the three entered the carriage.

"The telegraph office, Tom; and hurry."

CHAPTER VII.

An Affair at the State House.

Barbara filed the messages herself with the manager of the telegraph company, who lifted the green shade from his eyes and smiled upon her.

"We'll rush them, Miss Osborne. Shall I telephone the answers if they come tonight? No; your father likes his telegrams delivered, I remember."

"I will call for them," said Griswold. "Governor Osborne was only at home a few hours this evening and he left me in charge of these matters."

The manager's face expressed surprise.

"Oh! I didn't know the governor was at home," he remarked as he finished counting the words and charging them against the state's account. "I will send them myself, and ask the operators at the other end to look lively about the answers. You are Mr.—"

"This is Major Griswold," said Barbara, conferring the title with a vague feeling that it strengthened her cause.

"Major," repeated the manager, and he nodded to Griswold with an air that implied his familiarity with official secrets. "You will call? In a couple of hours, Major."

As Barbara and Ghiswold turned to leave, a young man who had been writing a message at the standing desk in the lobby lifted his hat and addressed Barbara. He was a reporter for the Columbia Intelligencer and his manner was eager.

"Oh, Miss Osborne pardon me, but I've been trying to get you on the telephone. Can you tell me where your father is tonight?"

"Father was in town only a few hours, and then left on state business."

The young man glanced from one to the other. He was a polite youngster and Miss Barbara Osborne was—Miss Barbara Osborne, and this, to the people of South Carolina was a fact of weight. Still the reporter twirled his hat uncertainly.

"Well, I thought I had met all the trains, but I guess I missed the governor."

"No; you didn't miss him," smiled Barbara. "Father drove in from the country and went back the same way. He didn't come into town at all."

The news instinct is the keenest with which a man may be blessed, and the reporter scented events. Griswold, seeing the light flash in the young man's face, felt that here was an opportunity to allay public criticism.

"Governor Osborne is engaged upon important public business. He will be absent from town for a day—perhaps a week. He will not return to Columbia until the business is thoroughly disposed of."

"May I ask if it's the Appleweight case. The Raleigh papers have wired for information and we'd like to know here."

"I can not answer that question. It's enough that the governor is absent on state business, and that the business is important. You may print that in the Intelligencer and repeat it to Raleigh. There is no harm in that, is there, Miss Osborne?"

"No; certainly not," Barbara replied.

"But the papers all over the state are talking about the Appleweight gang. They intimate that those people enjoy immunity from prosecution and that the governor—you will pardon me, Miss Osborne—will take no steps to arrest them for personal reasons."

"Your question is quite proper," replied Griswold. "The governor's acts are subject to scrutiny at all times and it is just as well to have this matter understood now. I am employed by the governor as special counsel in some state matters. My name is Griswold. Take out your book and come to the desk here and I will give you a statement which you may publish as by the authority of the governor."

A conceited young man will probably get over it in time; experience takes it out of him. But there isn't much hope for the conceited old man.

KEPPEL ARGUES AGAINST COUPON BALLOT.

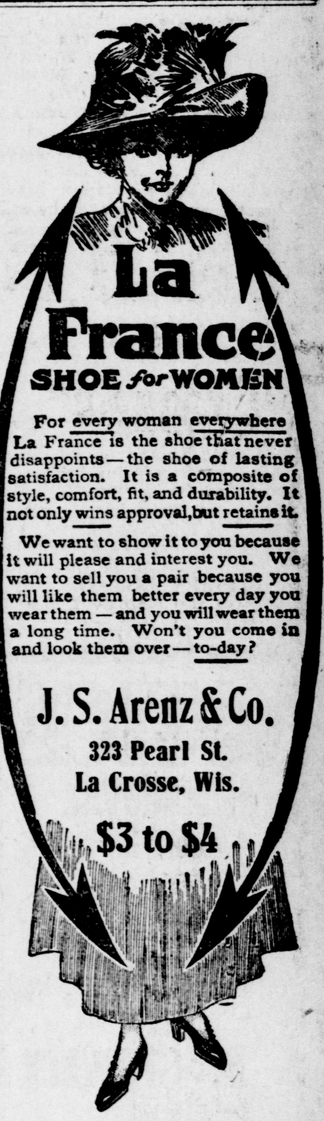

Editor Tribune:

In the early part of last August there appeared in the Tribune, an editorial entitled "The Dunn Coupon Ballot," giving the advantages of the coupon ballot system over the present ballot system for general elections as claimed by the inventor of the Coupon Ballot and his friends.

Chapter 545, Laws of 1909, one of the acts passed by the last legislature, permits the county boards of the different counties to adopt the Coupon Ballot system for general elections in place of the present ballot system.

It so happens that the two men most prominently connected with this piece of legislation—one the au-

COUNTY HAS NO TIME FOR MUSIC

And if it Had, No Watches with which to Keep "Time" on Melody, Say Assessors

JOKES OF THE ASSESSMENT

Figures Are Issued in Detail by Supervisor Keizer Showing Oddities of the Reports

Figures just prepared by Supervisor of Assessments Kaiser, which will be submitted to the La Crosse county board at the November meeting of that body in the annual report of the assessors contain much interesting information. Although Mr. Kaiser does not accuse any of the citizens of this county of tax dodging, figures can't lie and it looks as though many citizens when the assessors came around this year were forgetful of certain personal effects which the law declares is taxable property.

According to the statement of assessments for this year there are but 71 taxable watches in the county, valued at $66.56 on an average. Taxable watches, it must be understood, are superfluous watches. Where a man has but one timepiece and carries this on his person, the watch is exempt. If, however, the watch is considered too valuable, and an Ingersoll dollar watch is carried, while the gold one is locked up in a safe to be carried on special occasions, it is assessed by the assessors.

No Music Here

Organs and melodeons in La Crosse county are not making much noise this year. In the towns of Bangor, Burns, Campbell, Hamilton, Holland, Onalaska, Shelby, Washington and the cities of La Crosse and Onalaska not a single instrument of this kind has been found, and the town of Washington has not even a piano in it.

Bangor has three pianos, valued at an average of $66.66. In the town of Farmington one organ was found valued at ten dollars. Mules and asses are not very popular with La Crosse county farmers, there being only 51 in the entire county, of which the city of La Crosse has 22. The town of Farmington has 21. The city of La Crosse also has 275 cows within its corporate limits worth on an average $25 each.

La Crosse has 1,183 horses worth on an average $81.56 each. No swine, sheep, lambs, organs or melodeons have been discovered inside the corporate limits of La Crosse.

The town of Barre has the richest farm land, it being appraised at an average value per acre of $30. The lowest assessed land in the county is in the town of Washington, where according to the statement, the average value of farm land is $11.23 per acre.

The town of Farmington has the largest acreage of any town in the county, the assessors having found 48,568 acres of taxable farm lands. The town of Barre is the smallest, having only 13,305 acres assessed.

Campbell Cattle Best

Cattle bring the highest price in the town of Campbell, where the average assessed value is $24.01. The poorest grade of stock is found in the town of Washington, where cattle are assessed at an average value of $15.78.

More sheep are raised in the town of Burns than in any other town, 1,237 sheep and lambs having been assessed here at an average valuation of $2.98.

Farmington and Hamilton are very close competitors in the raising of swine, the town of Farmington leading with 1,466 and Hamilton closely following with 1,451. In the former town they are worth more also, being assessed at an average value of $7.62, while in Hamilton they are valued at $7.21 each. There are thirteen pigs within the corporate limits of the city of Onalaska.

La Crosse has 105 automobiles, worth on an average $866.19. There are three in the village of West Salem, seven in the village of Bangor, two in the town of Holland and one in the town of Campbell.

Bank Stock Increases

Bank stock is held in the town of Holland, village of Bangor, village of West Salem and city of La Crosse. La Crosse bank stock is assessed at $1,285,425. The value of merchants and manufacturers' stock in this city is placed at $2,122,901.00. In money accounts, notes, bonds and mortgages the city of La Crosse is worth the sum of $1,597,886.

Steamboats and all other vessels in La Crosse county, including gasoline launches, yachts and pleasure craft are worth all together $32,650. All are in the city of La Crosse.

Here are Millions

La Crosse real estate exclusive of buildings is assessed at a total valuation of $5,587,253. La Crosse's beautiful buildings are assessed at $8,539,498, making a total valuation of $14,126,751. Personal property owned in this city is valued at a total of $6,587,572. The total value of real estate and personal property in the city is fixed at $20,714,323, which is an increase of $457,571 over last year.

In the town of Bangor the total assessed value of real estate and personal property has decreased $1,478. Barre shows a decrease of $1,935. Burns has an increase of $19,489 Campbell has declined $876. Farmington is worth $9,044 more than last year. Greenfield has been assessed for $2,140 more than in 1908. Hamilton is $11,694 better off than a year ago.

In the town of Holland property has increased $37,422. Onalaska shows $3,210 less than last year. Shelby is $13,610 better off. Washington has gained $6,505 in a year.

The village of Bangor is worth in assessable property $4,643 more than in 1908, while the village of West Salem has raised its property valuation $17,883. The city of Onalaska has gone forward to the tune of $15,265.

On Keeping Sponges Sanitary

On account of the difficulty of keeping sponges in a sanitary condition, many people have discarded them entirely. However, it is easy to keep them clean and sweet if in addition to rinsing in clean, warm water after being used, they are boiled once a week in water to which has been added a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder and then rinsed through several clear, warm waters. Wash cloths should also be boiled in Gold Dust suds and thoroughly rinsed, sunned and ironed. Those of thin linen crash are more desirable than heavy ones.

SPOTLIGHTS

Saturday's Show

"A Pair of Country Kids" as a play for the masses has proven its popularity for four years and each year's visit is looked forward to by the lovers of pure fun as an event at which all promises are fulfilled and they the sure of seeing what they want. The Kids are old friends sure of a crowd on each visit and you all know of their fun making qualities. The manager of the La Crosse Theater is pleased to announce the date for next Saturday, Oct. 23, matinee and night.

Lena Rivers

The dramatization of Mrs. Mary's J. Holmes' "Lena Rivers," which has been finding so much favor, and which is to be seen at the La Crosse Theater next Sunday, matinee and night is said to be cleverly arranged. Of course Lena is the central figure and around her are grouped all of the characters of the book. There is real old Granny Nichols, pretty and jealous Caroline, the old maid Nancy Scovendyke, and Durward Belmont, the handsome southerner. Then there are the two archplotters, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Livingstone; the witty old negro Rastus and his wife Aunt Debbie; the unhappy, yet withal, loving John Graham and Anna, the pretty sister of Caroline. Mrs. Graham moves through the piece and so does the village bumpkin Joel Slocum. These character sketches are all capitally drawn and equally well portrayed and the play promises to win even more success than did the book. It has much to commend it, inasmuch as it is clean and wholesome, tells a most interesting story, is replete with bright lines and quaint sayings, and has a delightful and refreshing atmosphere.

When a man has a conscience it is never his fault.

CITY FIGHT ENDS IN DESPERATE FEUD

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—The rivalry between the incorporationists and anti-incorporationists in Wellston, a suburb of St. Louis, recently made a city, today promises to develop into a feud, following the shooting of Deputy Marshal John Hanson by Theron S. Harris, an attorney.

Hanson is in a critical condition with a bullet in his left hip, his right elbow shattered by another. A third bullet went wild. The shooting occurred during the annual Wellston Street Fair, when the streets were crowded. It is said Harris shot while Hanson's back was turned.

William Lauman, president of the Anti-Incorporation league, was arrested with Harris and several other antis were arrested in connection with the shooting. All were released on bond.

The Wellston officials, including Mayor Roy C. Woods, have provided themselves with bodyguards.

Is Constipation Curable? Try this Free

I believe that thousands of people suffer needlessly from constipation simply through ignorance of what kind of a remedy to take. You cannot cure a chronic trouble by one flushing of the colon, as is the case when salts and purgative waters are used. And it is a well-known fact that cathartic pills, after the first relief, bind the bowels all the more. These things seldom do more than temporary good.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

a remedy that I have sold through druggists for a quarter of a century comes much nearer to the ideal method of cure. It is a liquid, mild, pleasant-tasting and non-griping. A baby can use it with safety, yet it is effective in the strongest person. It gives relief promptly, and by continuing its use briefly the stomach muscles are trained to again do their work naturally, and then you can dispense with medicines. To prove these claims I will gladly send a free sample bottle to any sufferer from chronic constipation, liver trouble, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach and similar digestive complaints. You have only to send me your name and address. After using the sample, if you then feel sure it is the remedy you have so long sought, buy it of your druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Thousands of heads of families always keep it in the house, as it can be used by all.

DR. CALDWELL PERSONALLY WILL BE PLEASED TO GIVE YOU ANY MEDICAL ADVICE YOU MAY DESIRE FOR YOURSELF OR FAMILY PERTAINING TO THE STOMACH, LIVER OR BOWELS, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE. EXPLAIN YOUR CASE IN A LETTER AND HE WILL REPLY TO YOU IN DETAIL. FOR THE FREE SAMPLE SIMPLY SEND YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS ON A POSTAL CARD OR OTHERWISE. FOR EITHER REQUEST THE DOCTOR'S ADDRESS IS DR. W. B. CALDWELL, 2,524 CALDWELL BLDG., MONTICELLO, ILL.

I received a sample bottle of your Syrup Pepsin and was so pleased with it I sent to the drug store and got a $1 bottle and a 50 cent bottle, and my little girl four years old is in better health than she has ever been in her life. I have no more trouble with her bowels and stomach, and I thank you for your Syrup Pepsin. I can not praise Syrup Pepsin too highly. My mother also is using it.—Mrs. Carrie Culler, 325 N. Notre Dame street, South Bend, Ind.

We thank you for the sample bottle of Syrup Pepsin. If we could not get any more than that, we would certainly keep it for the good it has done us. Our house is never without it nor never will be as long as we can raise a dollar. It's the balm of life in our home.—J. Henry Hankla, Junction City, Ky.

I received the sample bottle and am using the second 50-cent bottle procured at one of my local druggists. Results were the most satisfactory. Am advertising Syrup Pepsin to everyone that is interested.—O. F. WISHER, Sycamore, Ill.

I was for years a constant sufferer from chronic indigestion and constipation and had almost given up hope of ever being cured, but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has made a well man of me and I write to acknowledge my gratitude to Dr. Caldwell and to the Pepsin Syrup Co.—F. WOODSMAN SHOOTS UP RHINELANDER

RHINELANDER, Wis., Oct. 22.—A woodsman, John Reynolds, armed with a Winchester rifle, held up the town of Goodman, 55 miles east of here, after a disagreement over his pay and is believed to be fleeing toward Rhinelander before a gathering posse.

Reynolds entered the business office of the Goodman Lumber company, with whom he had been employed, and received his pay, which was unsatisfactory to him. About 5 o'clock he returned with a rifle. He pointed the gun at Ralph Goodman, manager of the company, and pulled the trigger several times but a cartridge caught in the breech of the weapon and would not fire.

He rushed from the building into an adjacent hotel and repaired the rifle, returning to the street where he dispersed the crowd with a few ineffective shots and ran into the nearby woods. From different positions in the trees he pumped bullets down the main street.

After the shots had ceased a posse armed and pursued but at a late hour last night had been unable to locate him in the forest.

Constipation And Appendicitis

The Latter Usually Caused By The Former, Which, In Turn, Has Its Origin In Intestinal Indigestion

Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who endure it habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and cathartics daily.

Many people seemed to have developed a perfect mania for taking pills and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of the disease, and removing it by appropriate treatment, they are content to continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients, drastic cathartics and violent purgatives, until finally inflammation of the bowels occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the result is appendicitis.

In investigating and tracing the causative factors of constipation and its frequent sequel, appendicitis, it has been noted by physicians that the majority of cases were preceded and accompanied by a long-standing gastro-intestinal indigestion.

The idea that appendicitis is brought on by foreign bodies, such as seeds, etc., becoming lodged in the appendix is an exploded theory. It is now definitely known that constipation is the most prolific cause of this dread disease, while the constipation, itself is previously induced by intestinal indigestion, or amylaceous dyspepsia—the inability to digest starches—so the relation between cause and effect is readily seen and appreciated.

The absurdity of attempting to cure constipation by the use of physic should be apparent to every one. Laxative drugs and powerful purgatives, will never cure a disease of this sort, and those who make frequent or regular use of them will, sooner or later, set up an inflammatory condition of the intestinal system.

A person with first-lass digestion will never be annoyed with chronic constipation, and when this trouble does exist, instead of slugging the system with pills, liquid laxatives, candy cathartics, etc., use a remedy which will cure the gastro-intestinal indigestion, and you will find that the constipation no longer bothers you, and with its removal, the risk of developing appendicitis will be reduced to the minimum.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS have been the means of curing numerous cases of constipation, by first curing the intestinal indigestion. They digest every kind of food, a single grain being capable of digesting 3,000 grains of alimentum, and in addition to pepsin and other powerful digestives, they also contain diatase, which converts starch into sugar, and readily cures amylaceous dyspepsia and intestinal indigestion.

If you are suffering from dyspepsia, constipation, and, in fact, indigestion of any kind, don't run the risk of getting appendicitis, but strike at the root of the trouble—the original cause—by using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will quickly rid you of all functional disorders of the alimentary tract.

Secure a box of this digestive remedy from your druggist for 50c and send your name and address to the F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., for a free sample package.

MOST IMPORTANT, SAYS H. L. WILSON

meeting is claimed by the officers to be by far the biggest in years.

The high school male chorus' rendition of "My Kentucky Babe" was well received and the violin solo of Miss Marior Vos Burgs of the La Crosse normal won much applause.

Through Superintendent John P. Bird of the La Crosse schools, an invitation was extended the delegates by the Public Library association and the United States Weather bureau to visit the places.

Committee Announcements

Superintendent B. F. Oltman, West Salem, Wis., prior to the addresses announced the following committees:

Nominations—Prof. Harry Spence, La Crosse; Superintendent Dan B. Gibson, Trempealeau; Principal W. MacNeel, Tomah; Superintendent H. L. Gardner, Vernon county; Principal C. W. Rand, West Salem.

Resolutions—Prof. A. H. Safford, normal school, La Crosse; Willis P. Colburn, Viroqua, and Professor I. B. Davies, Sparta.

In opening his discussion of "The Larger Problems in Education" President Wilson emphasized the necessity of passing the petty arguments of school administration and the like which are so apt to disrupt schools that the proper moulding of the pupil would be impaired. The educational system, he asserted, should be harmonious with the civilization of which it is a part.

Greeks and Romans

"The environment of the Greeks," he said, "made it natural for them to study higher things and the result the great heritage left by the race is philosophy, art and literature. The Romans, were different. With an irrepressible desire to conquer they were constantly at war with surrounding nations and the conquering of these nations made a close study of government problems a necessity. Their contribution of governmental systems resulted.

Birth of Chivalry

"During the medieval wars in Europe the church was always respected by the warring countries and out of this respect grew what is known as chivalry.

"The American society is democratic and industrious. Every man is dependent upon another and the result is that we are living in the most complex period in the history of the world."

He explained that the word democratic really meant government by the people and although, he said, ours is the most perfect since the history of the world, yet there are many things which make it far from a country where a government of the people, for the people and by the people is maintained.

The term 'Free and equal' he declared was a farce in the olden days and that even now it is used but figuratively.

Wealth a Menace

One of the great disadvantages of this country is the effect of corporate wealth upon common labor and he claims that the industrial systems have brought about changes in the people which no longer put one man on a free and equal basis with the other.

Wage owners and capitalists are two distinct divisions, he said, and in connection with these two the term free and equal was never implied. The accumulation of great wealth was decried by the speaker as working against democracy and said that it was time that the people of the United States arise in might, wrest the control of government and industrial affairs from the trusts and private interests and assert their power to control the country's affairs.

Selfcenteredness Harmful

The tendency of the American people to spend most of their time to private affairs was pointed out as a bad thing which should be worked out of the minds of the young and he urged that people take more interest in public affairs. Interest in public affairs," said resident Wilson, "is the first thing our schools should give our children. Train them for good citizenship and point out the necessiy of eradicating 'politicians' from place of control and the necessity of placing in their positions a better class of men, who are not there for what there is in it personally but who will attend to the affairs of state with the wishes and best interests of the people always at heart.

"If we do not guard and take any interest in public affairs democracy in the United States will be a failure."

The constantly changing industrial affairs of the United States, President Wilson pointed out, has necessibranches in the public schools. He referred to the wonderful work being done by domestic science schools, manual training school, trade schools and agricultural schools.

Woman's Duty in Home

It was during this part of his address that he took occasion to take a fling at the tendency of some over indulgent-parents to educate their children, especially the girls, for positions of ladies.

"The highest service of our young women," he declared "is homing. It is no great thing to boast of lack of knowledge of the duties in the home. The home is the foundation of this country and if our young women are not trained to take their places there where will our great republic land?" He said that domestic science courses were rapidly surplanting the lighter and more useless studies and intimated that cooking was rapidly taking the places of French in public schools.

In closing his address he said in part, "You perhaps think that criticism of our industrial system is not fair. You will argue that many of the common laborers have large bank accounts. But do you realize that the reason they have large bank accounts is because the miserable system has crowded them out of all possible chance of investing their savings. We are living under the domain of the heartless corporation.

"The home, the church, the school and society must teach co-operation and the abolition of the 'system.'"

The address of State Superintendent C. P. Cary, which was read by A. J. Winnie dealt with what he termed as fads in education and laid special stress upon the necessity of teachers imparting fundamental and elementary knowledge to pupils rather than filling their heads with chaotic ideas on many subjects which amount to practically nothing of value.

"There is too much enthusiasm for small things," declared the speaker, "while the necessary things to give to man was the ability to communicate by reading, writing, and talking. The necessity of giving scholars good training in these three things alone cannot be over emphasized."

Grammar, reading, writing and arithmetic have no place in the schools is the opinion of many studying to be teachers, said the speaker, it being their opinion that the studies of higher education are by far the most important.

"We seem to have lost the art of and the desirde for thoroughness in schools," said the speaker in closing, "and it is time to return to the middle ground and avail ourselves in education of the thoroughness of the olden days."

Value of Personality

The necessity of "The Teacher's Development of Personality" was emphasized clearly by President John F. Sims of the Stevens Point Normal. "Personality" said Mr. Sims, "is that attractiveness that leads to the brightest and the best.

"When you meet a strong personality you can feel the poignant influence of mind on mind and spirit on spirit. After meeting a man or women of exceptional strong personality you feel as though you had drunk the wines of exalted being and had been moved to do things.

"The development of a strong will power is necessary for a competent instructor," said the speaker, 'and teachers should feel that a student is the gem in the rough, placed in their hands for the careful cutting and with this responsibility resting upon them they should know that if the mould is faulty the image should not be blamed.'"

Sectional Meetings

W. H. Hunt, Madison, graded school inspector, delivered an address on the purpose of recitation at the sectional meeting this afternoon and "The Reading Class" was discussed by Principal M. H. Jackson, Grand Rapids. "What the Public School has a Right to Expect of Its Elementary Class" was the subject of J. O. Egleman, institute conductor at the normal and the addresses were followed by general discussion. Superintendent W. P. Colburn, Viroqua, rendered a violin solo.

ELECTROPODES DO WONDERS FOR STOMACH

Remarkable Electric Device To Produce Wireless Current That Quickly Restores Diseased Stomach and Other Organs

A Real Treatment For Rheumatism.

We want to call the attention of our readers to a remarkable electric device which seems already to have exploded many pet theories of physicians and scientists, and to have produced positive wonder to those who have used it.

This new invention is called Electropodes, which comes in pairs,—both producing together, it is stated, an unnoticeable yet effective current throughout the entire body, permeating the vital organs, purifying and correcting diseased conditions, regulating vital functions, and strengthening the nerves almost beyond description.

It proves at last that electricity is not only life but health, and vigor unsurpassed. It has already produced astonishing results in Stomach and Liver Troubles, Kidney Complaints, Back Pains, Lumbago, Insomnia, Weak Heart, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration, Neuralgia and Weak Nerves.

These results are not fanciful but already proven. For those who have relied on medicines for curing the above diseases, these Electropodes come as a distinct revelation.

Those who wear them report an inexpressible new feeling of glow and health to every organ, the nerves, and entire body. Nothing like it has ever been found.

Electropodes are peculiar metallic insoles in appearance, insulated and so placed in the heels of the shoes as to be unnoticeable to the wearer. They are never uncomfortable; indeed, were it not for the glow of energy and health you would never know you had them on. They are different from any other electric device in that they produce a current only when in actual use.

Electropodes have already been distributed so that you can now get them at any drug store at $1.00 a pair. To prove to you that they do the wonderful things claimed for them, the druggist signs a legal binding contract that if you are not perfectly satisfied with the Electropodes at the end of 30 days, your money will be refunded.

If your druggist should not have Electropodes on hand, send $1.00 for a pair to The Electropode Company, Suite 17, Holland Block, Lima, Ohio, and they will be sent to you on the same 30 days' trial, with our contract signed by the manufacturers, binding themselves to completely satisfy you, or positively refund your money, and also the interesting story of how Electropodes heal no matter where the trouble is located. Say whether for lady or gentleman.

CITY EXPERT CITES LA CROSSE'S ASSETS

Crosse owe it to the city, he said to give their services in upbuilding the town. He urged keeping the boys at home.

The speaker took up the question of the election of incompetents to office. A man who could not successfully operate a peanut stand for himself is put in to run city departments, he said. The statement was greeted with applause. He said municipal government in the United States is the greatest flaw of the government, and is a stench to the nostrils of the world. He declared commercial clubs will some day dictate the politics of the country. He urged a board of trade of 400 members with a political committee to examine every ordinance and legislative bill before its passage, in the interests of their home community. The board of trade should direct the congressmen, he said, who are swelling around Washington imagining they are ruling their country and toying with important legislation, forgetful that they are elected to serve and not rule.

Dare Not Be Idle.

A town dare not be idle, said Mr. Irving, for even now other cities' representatives are in La Crosse after local industries, "and hope they get them," he said, "if you don't get over your enmities and prejudices and get together." Everywhere towns are getting together, he said, and it is necessary for advancement. "You'll die if you don't," he admonished.

La Crosse should have an industrial exposition, because the citizens do not even know what the city is making. The city should have a slogan to arouse public spirit, which is a great asset. He cited the spirit of Red Wing, Minn., which filled the entire exposition building of the Minnesota state fair with Red Wing made goods, after other towns in the state had failed. Red Wing was written up all over the United States for it, he declared. A Faribault man went to Red Wing and a Red Wing friend pointed to the river. "Isn't the scenery beautiful?" he asked. "No better than we have at Faribault," replied his friend. "I know I didn't think it was pretty when I came here, but these Red Wing boosters have pounded its beauty into my ears so long, now I believe it." This, he said, was the spirit at Red Wing.

Irrigated lands is the next graft, he declares, which will tap the people of La Crosse for their money, as it is tapping Chicago and other cities, he said. He declared the man who would invest his money in lands a thousand miles away, when he knew nothing of farming or making money out of them, deserves to lose it.

He proposed as a La Crosse slogan "Get in the La Crosse game." Cleveland has made "Onward, Cleveland, Onward," famous, as has Minneapolis the term "Minneapolis Makes Good."

Assets and Liabilities

Irving then read a list of the city's assets or inducements to outsiders, and its liabilities, or drawbacks. Among the liabilities were lack of appreciation by business men and self centeredness which, he declared, was the greatest liability. Even Winona, with a high class civic secretary, he said, is after La Crosse industries. Lack of city advertising is a liability, he declared. He opposed outside street carnivals and warned people not to ridicule honest efforts of others to boost. Oklahoma City has a knockers' committee, which, when a knocker is located, taps him on the shoulder and warns him to quit knocking or get out of town. Failure to gain in population, he cited as a liability and strongly condemned instances where property owners raised the price of factory sites, when demand was made for the land for that purpose. Business jealousy was also given as a serious liability.

Unscheduled Assets

One of Mr. Irving's interesting topics was "Unscheduled Assets," wherein lies the city's opportunity to do things.

He urged the board of trade to work to bring normal students here and to find employment for them after they arrive. He urged traveling men be induced to make their homes here, that an arrangement be made with factories for high school students to get actual manual training

OVERWORK AND WORRY BLAMED

For a Large Percentage of Woman's Ills.

A Newark, N. Y., Woman Tells How Relief and Cure May Be Obtained.

"If suffering women only knew of the relief they can get from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they would never neglect taking them," says Mrs. Garrison Craver, of No. 104 West Union street, Newark, N. Y. "I doctored with several doctors for months but found no relief for weakness common to my sex. My trouble was probably due to overwork and I first noticed it coming on when I began to get nervous. I soon began to have nervous chills, which were something like the ague. I had dull aching pains in my back, which often kept me awake at night. My sleeplessness was also partly due to the nervousness. I suffered with headaches through my temples and forehead. I was frequently dizzy, especially in the morning, and then would be dreadfully sick. I had palpitation of the heart. Many times I would be so sick that I could not work.

"The doctor said my sickness was due to overwork but he did not seem to help me. After I had been sick for several months, I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped me a great deal. My back stopped aching and I have never had the nervous chills since. The pills gave me a good appetite and I gained in strength and weight. I was completely cured and advise every weak woman to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain the elements necessary to make new blood and, as the nerves get their nourishment from the blood, have been found invaluable in a wide range of diseases of the blood and nerves, such as rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers, neuralgia, nervous debility, St. Vitus' dance and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

The remedy which gave Mrs. Craver complete health can be obtained at any drug store or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box: six boxes for $2.50. While so promptly effective, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. They are perfectly safe and create no drug habit.

FREE BRIDGE NOT A GREAT EXPENSE

It Could Be Maintained for About $1,500 a Year, Is the Estimate

BRIDGE TURNED 757 TIMES

To Permit Thirty-seven Boats to Ply the River This Summer

During the past river season, of which about one month remains, the draw at the Mississippi river wagon bridge has been opened 757 times for 37 boats and several dredges and sand pumps. The bridge opened for river business April 3 and the first boat to pass through the draw was the rafter Ben Hershey on April 9th. About one month more of the season remains during which time the bridge may be opened about twenty or thirty times. This about equals the business of last year. To the ordinary man, the business of the bridge does not seem like a great thing. He is of the opinion that the boat business on the river has nearly ceased and is surprised to learn that there are still about 37 boats which pass up and down the river at this point during the season. The first packet up was the Diamond Jo boat, the steamer St. Paul on June 6. The last boat of the season last year was the Georgie S., which passed through the draw on November 25. The year before the last boat passed through November 30, so it is possible that the season will extend about a month and a half yet.

"Ships That Pass —"

The boats which passed through the draw this season are, Ben Hershey, Everett, Silver Crescent, Ideal, U. S. Elfnore, U. S. Elsie, North Star, Harriett, Lizzie Gardner, Juanita, Clyde Mary B., Lorene, U. S. Lily, La Crosse, Gardie Eastman, Jap, U. S. Curlew, U. S. David Tipton, Frontenac, Wanderer II and Idler, St. Paul, W. W., U. S. Alert, Adeline, Ellen, J. S., Quincy, Percy Swain, Robert Dodds, Vernie Mac, U. S. Henry Bosse, J. Weyerhauser, Helen Blair, Black Hawk, and the dredge Vulcan and the sand pump Vesuvius.

Free Bridge Cheap

To estimate the number of teams and people that cross the bridge would be impossible. Some days it is estimated that over one hundred teams cross the bridge while on other days there are none.

It is estimated that the revenue of the bridge is about $7,000 while it costs about the same amount to operate it. The cost of operation and repairs generally exceed the revenue and thus the structure is a loss to the city. The sum of $2,880 is paid annually in wages to the toll keepers and the engineers. Repairs represent a large part of the annual expense. It is estimated that to operate a free bridge would mean an annual expense of about $1,500 to the city.

New Bridge Soon

To those who are acquainted with the condition of the present structure it is obvious that a new bridge will be needed in about five or six years. The steel and iron work is rapidly corroding and becoming weaker. The question of erecting a high bridge is one that will be uppermost in the minds of those who will have to deal with the building of a new structure. At the present time it is merely a matter of speculation.

FIRST REHEARSAL OF SOCIETY PLAY

The first complete rehearsal of "Up and Down Broadway," which is to be at the La Crosse theater Thursday, October 28, for the benefit of the Home of the Friendless, was held last night at the Masonic temple and the snappy way in which the different members of the cast went through their parts was a delight to the director, Donald McDonald.

Filled with catchy songs and sketches from some of the best comic operas it promises to be the best of its kind ever held in La Crosse.

"Up and Down Broadway," as it will be produced here, is exactly as it was staged in its initial performance in New York city. Since the great hit it scored there it has been put on by Mr. McDonald in some of the leading cities of the east and middle west and has proven a great favorite for club plays and benefits.

All of the parts are to be taken by La Crosse people. Among the soloists who will take part are Mrs. Grace MacLinden Bartl, Miss Ida Aiken, Miss Helen Miller, Miss Lillian Anderson, Orlando Hegge, Donald MacDonald and Ruel Russell. Miss Agnes MacLinden will be the accompanist.

ONE CENT FINE FOR SHOOTING AT "COP"

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 22.—It costs one copper to shoot at a cop in Omaha.

Or perhaps, if the city happens to be "flush," one minute in jail will expiate the offense.

This was decided by a jury in Judge Sutton's court where John Deleena was on trial for shooting at Patrolman H. A. Cunningham.

Deleena was found guilty of "assault and battery" and the minifum penalty of one cent fine or one minute in jail recommended to the court.

Cunningham attempted to arrest Deleena as a suspicious character. Deleeena objected and fired one shot from a revolver. The bullet passed through the officer's coat.

WHEELS CRUSH HIS BREAST

William Leahy Falls From Box Car and Wheels Pass Onto His Body

Mrs. William Hurley, 1448 Wood street was notified this morning of the death of her brother, William Leahy, at Winona about 1:30 o'clock this morning. Mr. Leahy, who was a brakeman in the employ of the Burlington road, fell from the top of a box car to the rails where the wheels of a car, which was just coming to a stop, crushed his left shoulder and left breast. Death was instantaneous.

The switching crew at Winona was switching a string of five cars from the Milwaukee yards to the Green Bay yards. Brakeman Leahy was standing near the end of the third car and when the engine brought the cars to a stop he fell to the rails below. The wheels of the fourth car ran onto him. The cars stopped before the first wheel in the truck could pass entirely over the body.

The remains were taken to an undertaking establishment where they will be prepared for burial. It is thought by relatives here that the body will be taken to Albany, Ill., the home of his parents, for interment. Deceased was 24 years of age and unmarried.

CITY EXPERT CITES LA CROSSE'S ASSETS

experience by factory experience under the school's direction. Business men should call at the schools and by their spirit cheer the students to greater efforts and to confidence in the opportunity which lies in their home town. Get more railroad men to come here and induce wage earners to own their homes, and, he said, advertise the schools, for their influence is to increase the population. He advocated a $100,000 fund to buy land and buildings for and stock in new industries, but deprecated the bonus plan as a blunder. Raise a fund, he said, to be devoted to keeping your money at home and to prevent it being sent outside in schemes and to outside merchants. He said the consistory and shrine of the Masonic lodge could be brought to La Crosse and that this would bring hundreds of people here annually. A board of arbitration for citizens and business men who cannot agree was advocated. He said with 400 members at $10 each, the board of trade could raise a tidy sum for promoting purposes out of its dues. He said a larger salary should be paid the secretary and that the secretary be forced to make good or vacate. He urged home patronage for retail and wholesale houses. "Help Hackner," said the speaker, "he wants to stay here, and help him to do it." This the audience cheered. Create a home spirit, get good working factories, advocate women's civic clubs, make an energetic effort to settle the water question, get new and modern store fronts, more of the spirit demonstrated in making the meeting a success, get a boat factory, repair the fair ground fence where it appears ugly to the normal school, get a carriage and a windmill factory, investigate your soil for valuable deposits of clay, gravel, etc., get a poultry feeding plant, a first class creamery. These were some of the things he cites as unscheduled assets.

Urges Interurban

The speaker urged the board of trade to work with might and main to bring the new interurban line to La Crosse. "It is the best asset you can get," he declared, "and do all you can and work your hardest to get it." He urged that the toll be taken off the bridge, and that the merchants with pockets filled with "La Crosse Booster" cigars go out in their automobiles and get acquainted with the farmers. "Give band concerts to attract the people to your town and entertain the people you have here. Give a weekly market day for the farmers; it's immensely successful. Boom your town because it is on the Mississippi, with cheap transportation, get a tannery to fill that vacant building. Get the pastors into your board, give prizes for the best lawns and gardens, tear down the baking powder and soap signs, have your light company install modern chandeliers along the business streets and have your industrial society or your business men pay for the current. Get team work—that's what counts. Sub-divide your city lots and sell them to raise a fund for promoting purposes."

These are some of the suggestions made by the speaker before he closed by asking all in the audience who would promise to patronize home made and jobbed goods when possible to stand up. The whole house arose.

Will Outline a Plan

Before leaving the city Mr. Irving will outline a plan which will be placed in the hands of the board of trade for carrying out the suggestions which he made at the meeting last night and it is expected immediate work will be taken up to put some of the ideas into effect.

Kreutz's and Andre's orchestras donated their services last night and before the lecture gave an excellent concert which was highly appreciated. The appearance of the rival musicians working in harmony was a wholesome suggestion for those business men attending the lecture, to go and do likewise, said the speaker.

THE LATEST STYLES IN KNITTING AND CROCHETING

A Charming and Inexpensive Negligee

So bewitchingly pretty is this kimono that one regrets that its use is confined to the in-between periods of negligee. And, unlike many of the dainty things for my lady's private use, it is a real protection—one of the warmest and most comfortable garments you can wear. The yoke is made double, the inner part of pink, blue, or lavender, and the effect of the color showing through the meshes of the outer part is unusually pretty. The kimono is made of eighteen skeins of Fleisher's Shetland Floss—a yarn particularly suited for such a dainty creation. It is finely spun with a loose, fluffy twist, yet in spite of its delicate appearance it will retain its original character under every reasonable strain. And the garment will not lose its shape.

Full directions for making this and many other new and staple articles may be found in Fleisher's Knitting and Crocheting Manual, an invaluable handbook for beginner and expert. Contains a complete course of instruction in the various stitches.

NELSON'S

ther or inventor, the other the legislator who secured the passage of the above act—are both residents of this county, both are model citizens and highly respected as such This fact does not in the least affect the merits of the proposed ballot system, as authorized by the above chapter, but may be the cause of many approving the measure without giving it any thought, when they would not approve after due consideration.

What ever may be the conclusions on the part of the public in reference to the proposed ballot system, The Tribune rightly contends that the merit of the ballot system and not personality connected with the proposed ballot system should be the basis of consideration.

The fact that the legislature passed the chapter 545 in this case is not an evidence of merit, for it contains a referendum provision, referring it to the various county boards for approval before becoming operative. Any measure having attached to it a referendum is almost certain to pass any legislative body.

The proposition involved in above chapter is not a new one at this time; this very matter has been before the public in one form or an other for some 6 or 8 years. In every instance there was attached a referendum except the first time, if I remember correctly, when it was vetoed by the then governor, now Senator La Follette. Thereafter it again passed the legislature and attached to it was a state wide referendum. In the spring election of 1906 the voters refused to endorse the proposition.

Not able to see the merits claimed for the coupon system by its inventor and friends, I concluded it would be good policy to open the subject for discussion through the press and thereby a more complete comprehension of the whole matter may be developed. With the above in mind I will state my views in the matter and hope others will do like wise in the near future, for I anticipate that at the coming November or annual meeting of the county board this very matter will be up for consideration, and as taxpayers and believers in good government we are all vitally interested even though we may have no direct voice in the coming meeting of the county board.

Points of merit in which the coupon ballot system is claimed to excel all other ballot spstems are, first, simplicity, next economy as to cost as well as time in voting and counting, safeguard against fraud and tracing of errors.

Can there be any thing more simple than the present ballot in use for voting at general elections in this state? The general election ballot is more simple than the primary election ballot. The Dunn coupon ballot closely resembles the primary election ballot in general construction. Hence, the coupon ballot can not be more simple, but, on the contrary, it must be less so.

Now as to economy of time in voting, and counting, the present ballot after being endorsed by the ballot clerks is handed to the voter who retires to the booth, makes an X for the party or candidate he wishes to vote for, folds the ballot and hands it to the inspector who deposits it in the urn. The voter has voted.

To vote the coupon ballot the voter not only has the ballot to care for but also two separate envelopes, one of which is called the official folder in which the voter places those coupons containing the name of the party or persons he wishes to vote for. The rest of the ballot the voter is to place in the remaining envelope and both envelopes are to be properly folded or sealed and then handed to the inspector whose duty it is to so attach the official folder envelope to the remainder envelope in a pocket provided for that purpose, on the back of the remainder envelope so that the two envelopes when put into the ballot box are to remain together.

Who is there that will guarantee that in using the proposed coupon system as outlined above that time will be saved as compared with the present system? No one will attempt to do it. No one can do it. It can not be done.

But perhaps the strongest point of merits claimed for the coupon system as proposed is that it is a safeguard against fraud in that a negative or remainder ballot is also deposited with the inspector to check with the one voted. This claim at first analysis is inclined to appeal to any one very strongly, but when giving the matter a second though it develops that such a claim is applicable only when all parts of the ballot are properly placed.

It is the ignorant or poorly informed voters' mismarked ballot, under the present system that often causes trouble, and how can or will the coupon ballot help or benefit such a voter? Ten chances to one there will be more trouble than under the present system for there are more chances to make mistakes because of the fact that there are several separate and distinct requirements of each voter to insure a check as the proposed system is intended to, first, the selection of a ticket of his choice, next the placing of such in the proper envelope, and last the placing of the balance of the ballot in the other envelope. So much for ignorance or misinformation as applied to the two systems.

A coupon lost or destroyed will prevent the so desirable check a coupon taken by a voter, whether with the intention of keeping same as a souvenir or with the intention of doing mischief, will cause the same result and perhaps other irregularities may be practiced without detection until it comes to counting the votes if the secrecy of the ballot is to be preserved.

The coupons have no official endorsement or evidence of regularity. Only the envelopes used in connection have such indorsement.

The fact that the ballot offered the inspector by the voter as well as the remainder is never visible to the inspector is a serious defect in the proposed system. In this respect instead of preventing fraud it would offer inducement to fraud. Another theory of fraud is that inspectors inclined to be dishonest can, while counting the ballots with pencil in hand, mark some ballots before them so to enable them to reserve the voter's intention wholly or in part.

What is there to prevent such an inclined inspector from willingly loosening some coupon or coupons and thereby accomplishing the same result as with the pencil in the present system?

It seems the opportunity for fraud with the coupon system are no less than under the present system, so there can be no valid reason for a change of systems on that score.

The claim that the coupon system is the less expensive as compared with the present system is hardly worth considering for surely it cannot be denied that there is far more material used with the coupon system than with the present system, therefore to claim it would be less expensive to conduct an election with the coupon system is an admission or a charge, I take it, that there is something in the nature of a holdup practiced under the present system.

The voting machin is the coming thing, for the point upon which the courts ruled against the voting machine, it seems, are easy to over come by men competent to design and build such a machine.

In the above, I have attempted to state clearly my reasons for withholding my endorsement of the coupon ballot system. If, in any part, I may be wrong I ask and hope to be corrected.

Hoping to hear from others,
I remain, respectively,

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

First get fifty cents' worth of compound fluid balmwort in a one-ounce package, and three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamon.) Mix all in a six or eight ounce bottle, shake well, and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring followed by a drink of water.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

WISCONSIN NEWS

CHILDREN SEE DEATH OF INJURED FATHER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22.—Without having lost consciousness through the terrible agony of his last moments in Milwaukee hospital, Charles Schroeder died at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, his right leg and arms torn from his body by the drive wheels of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul locomotive at 8:45 o'clock in the Muskego avenue yards. Schroeder was 58 years of age.

The man's wife and three children were at the bedside when the end came, the children having been taken to the hospital from school.

Schroeder was on the pilot of a switch engine, helping make up a train. He fell forward onto the tracks. The engineer, a friend, saw him fall, but could not stop.

SHARPER PASSES WORTHLESS CHECKS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22.—George D. Bartlett, secretary of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, has been notified that hotels in the southern part of the state are being flooded with fraudulent checks by an unknown forger who travels under the name of "J. H. Bradley."

The checks are made out by R. J. Bennett & Co., supposed to be a lumber concern in Alton, Ill. There is no such firm. Hotels in Monroe and Brodhead recently cashed such checks.

The passer of the checks is described as 50 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighs about 175 pounds. Joints of his hands are enlarged.

MILWAUKEE BARBER PASSED BOGUS BILL

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22.—A. W. Stark, proprietor of the Plankinton house barber shop, was arrested Thursday afternoon on an indictment by the federal grand jury for having in his possession and attempting to pass a counterfeit $2 bill. He was released on $2,000.

The offense is alleged to have been committed on May 26, when he was found in possession of the money.

BREAKS WAUPACA JAIL; ESCAPES

WAUPACA, Wis. Oct. 22.—Lee Kruger, awaiting trial here on the charge of burglary, broke out of jail Wednesday night and made his escape from town.

The escape of four other prisoners was prevented by the prompt action of the little daughter of the sheriff, who gave the alarm and brought deputies to the scene in time to prevent a general delivery.

Krueger effected his escape by breaking a hole through a brick wall fifteen inches thick. What means he used to accomplish the work is a mystery.

G. D. BARTLETT SEES NEW BANDIT GANG

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22.—That a new gang of bank safe blowers is in operation in Wisconsin is the opinion of George D. Bartlett, secretary of the Wisconsin Bankers' association. He believes that the attempts to blow up the vaults of the banks in Athens, Downing and Waterford is the work of the same gang.

Mr. Bartlett believes that there is a strong possibility that the robbers who looted the bank in Minocqua on Wednesday were members of this gang. He has wired for detailed information as to how the vault was wrecked and upon receiving this information expects to be able to determine if the work was done by the same safe blowers.

It is believed that the detective in the employ of the Interstate Bankers' association, stationed in Minneapolis, has valuable information in regard to the identity of the robbers. Mr. Bartlett received a telegram from him on Thursday inquiring about the robbery of the bank.

TWIN CITY NABOBS START RACE WAR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 22.—Race war has broken out in Prospect Park, an aristocratic residence section between the Swin Cities.

A party of 125 residents among them prominent business men of the two cities, called at the home of a negro family last night and read to its members a paper which told them in plain language that members of the colored race were not wanted in the neighborhood and to get out. The home visited was that of Madison Jackson, on Hamline avenue.

The pride of the residents of the district was injured when Jackson bought his home, but their feelings turned to indignation when W. H. Simpson, colored, a friend of Jackson, purchased a lot on Milburn avenue and began excavations for a house. A mass meeting was held Wednesday evening and resolutions for the colored people were drawn up.

Jackson and his family are in Washington, D. C., and Simpson occupies the house. E. B. Crac read the proclamation. He said that no one in the party had enmity for Simpson and that it was only a peaceable conference between races.

"Yes," answered the negro, "this mob looks it."

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER

Grew a Full Growth of Hair On a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

Speaking of Nickels

And November, here is a unique proposition in quality values.

Step to your newsdealer with a nickel and buy a November number of THE LADIES' WORLD.

Of course you know about THE LADIES' WORLD—but have you ever realized how really great it is as a home magazine?

Take your November LADIES' WORLD home and study it from every side.

Then try to think of some other magazine at twice the price that gives as much real interest value to you.

You will read the story of the beloved Henry Ward Beecher.

"Worth the price of the magazine," you will say.

You will become absorbed in Charles G. D. Robert's fine serial beginning in this issue.

"That's worth the price, too."

You will find an article on the health of children that will be a surprise to you—and a great help.

The article on dressmaking, that bears particularly on the coming winter's needs, you will find peculiarly pertinent.

"Each worth the price," you will repeat.

And so from cover to cover you will find the quality—the class—that you generally expect to pay two or three nickels for.

It is pleasant to make a discovery like that, isn't it?

Three million readers have discovered it already and now they "can't keep house without THE LADIES' WORLD."

The November number is looking at you from the news-stand now. Perhaps you prefer to study it for a year—fifty cents to

THE LADIES' WORLD

P. S. The price—five cents—is a matter of pride with the publishers.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The stock market trading at the opening of business was very heavy only a few leading specialties showing demand. Leading issues showed moderate losses during the first fifteen minutes. Steel common and Reading declined more than one point. At the end of fifteen minutes a steadier tone developed.

Noon—The weak tone of the whole market continued throughout the forenoon with prices of leading issues declining more than two points. 11 a. m.—The sale of 40,000 shares by London arbitrage brokers shortly before the opening this morning caused a sharp decline in prices. Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Steel common were the heaviest offerings. The first hour ended with material declines recorded in all active issues.

Government bonds unchanged; others steady.

2 p. m.—The market improved during the afternoon, prices in general moving up about one point above the midday range. On the moderately higher levels reached, there was some selling with slight reaction but the tose continued good.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Two hundred and thirty two pounds of James J. Jeffries, the entire Mr. Jeffries, in fact, arrived in New York today aboard the Lusitania after an absence of eight weeks.

He returned with color in his cheek a spring in his step, a laugh that betokened the most buoyant health and best of all, with his fighting blood up and anxious to sign articles for a fight with Jack Johnson.

YOUR FAMILY!

Almost every man with a family has an intense desire to own a farm. He wants a place where his children can grow up strong and vigorous. He wants to be home near them during the day. And he wants to know that he is building a bank account for them in later years. Isn't that your case?

Right here in the very heart of Wisconsin is a mighty tract of half a million acres now thrown on the market at $6 to $20 an acre. Nearby land with the same soil and climate is selling for $100 to $150 an acre. And this land must increase to those amounts soon.

Ten Years to Pay

You can own one of these splendid farms by paying one-third down and the remainder within ten years. But while you are paying, the crops will be growing and values increasing.

One man bought some of the $15 land, and after clearing and cultivating it he sold out for $50 an acre and reinvested the profits in more land. He is already a man of wealth and power.

You can buy an eighty-acre farm for $400 by selecting good $15-an-acre land and paying $5 an acre in cash. Figure the profits when you have got it cleared and under full cultivation.

Write for Free Book

We cannot hope to explain all about this land in an ad of this size, but we do ask that you send for our booklet—it's FREE.

It tells you about the soil, climate, roads, schools, churches, telephones, and the kinds of crops raised, with their average prices. Send for the book today—it costs nothing but a postal or letter.

MINNIE ARBOGAST A GOOD WITNESS

At Mother's Trial on Murder Charge Girl Adroitly Dodges Embarrassing Questions

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 22.—Minnie Arbogast finished her testimony this morning in the trial of her mother, Mrs. Mina Arbogast, on the charge of murdering her husband, Louis Arbogast. Francis L. Wright, photographer, was on the stand at noon adjournment, and his testimony brought about a clash between the state and defense and let Judge Orr, just at adjournment, to remind Attorney Patrick J. McLaughlin that ruling had been on an objection which Mr. McLaughlin showed a disposition to argue.

On account of the crowds, the galleries were thrown open this morning and attendance limited to standing room, with the result that scores who had applied for admision were refused, and from twenty to thirty were standing in the hallway waiting a chance to get in.

Grilling examination of Minnie Arbogast did not result in the establishment of some important points which the state sought to prove, the girl adroitly avoiding direct answers,as her sister Ida had avoided them yesterday. Both frequently took refuge in asseverations of their failure to remember.

Louise Arbogast will testify this afternoon.

MUELLER LUMBER CO. SOLD FOR $375,000

MENOMINEE, Mich., Oct. 22.—The court house here on Thursday was the scene of the largest auction sale ever held in this city, when the entire holdings of the William Mueller Lumber company were sold by Court Commissioner John E. Tracy to R. C. Flannegan, for the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company, Hermansville, Mich., for $375,000.

The entire holdings of the concern, including 30,000 acres of land, much of it covered by valuable timber, a town and a railroad were disposed of.

Its enterprise in 1902, when it purchased immense tracts of timber in Chippewa county and founded the town of Blaney, resulted in financial ruin, and after a long struggle against adverse fortunes the company turned their property over to its creditors in 1906.

KILLED BY LANDSLIDE

SHIVERING IN SHIRT MAN PATROLS YARDS

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—Ben Ferguson, claiming St. Paul as his residence, was discoverer last night by Patrolman Charles Main, flitting about in the cold recesses of the Great Western yards, S. with only a shirt to protect him from the chill October zephyrs.

Ferguson told the patrolman how he had been knocked down and robbed of his money and clothing. He was wrapped in a blanket and taken to the South Side station, where he spent the rest of the night.

The police are of the opinion that Ferguson, who seemed to be under the influence of liquor, had disrobed in a box car, intending to make a Pullman out of it for the night, and later became so nervous that he concluded to take a little exercise before going to sleep, and forgot the way back to his temporary lodging place.

ENGLAND WANTS GOLD

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The announcement that the Bank of England would increase its rate of d.. count was forecasted by the United Press yesterday. The fact, however, that the rate was increased a full point instad of one half point came as a great surprise to the operators on the "street" and it is generally admitted that the real reason is the desire of the British banking authorities to retain gold in England.
